Brooklyn Chamber Directors Vote to Investigate Fesler

Resignation of Williams Is Tabled in Stormy Session; Committee to Consider "Usefulness" of Secretary

more than five hours the board directors of the Brooklyn Chamof directors of the Brooklyn Cham-ber of Commerce passed a resolution late last night placing the resignation of its president, J. Harvey, Williams, on the table and providing for the ap-pointment of a committee which will investigate the usefulness of its sec-

The committee will consist of five members of the board to be appointed by the three vice-presidents. When it is ready to report it will notify the first vice-president, Frederick W. Rowe, who will then call a special meeting of the board to reconsider the resignation of Mr. Williams. In the meantime both Mr. Williams and Mr. Fesler will continue in office.

The trouble which culminated in the meeting last night has been brewing for some time and divided the organization into two factions. The issue seems to be a question of how much authority Mr. Fesler is entitled to exercise.

According to statements credited to Mr. Williams and those who are supporting him in his stand, he is convinced that it is useless for him to continue to try to accomplish anything for the chamber with Mr. Fesler blocking him at every turn. The Williams faction say, praised them for what they had a great many of the powers and duties which rightfully belong to the high ideals of true Americanism him at every turn.
